PINE MANOR

Bulletin

PINE MANOR JUNIOR COLLEGE, WELLESLEY, MASSACHUSETTS

PINE MANOR JUNIOR COLLEGE

Wellesley 81, Massachusetts

VOL. IV, NO. 6 PINE MANOR BULLETIN MARCH 1957

Published by the Pine Manor Junior College, 16 Eliot Street, Wellesley 81, Mass., eight times a year, May, July, August, September, November, January, February and March. Second-class mail privileges authorized at Boston, Mass.

Looking across the pond in the center of Pine Manor's campus, one sees the new Alumnae Library at the right, nearing completion. Westlea, the main classroom building, is at the left.

Pine Manor is a non-profit, two-year, liberal arts college for young women, located in Wellesley, Massachusetts, just to the west of Boston. Its enrollment is small enough to permit the president, his administrative staff, and the faculty to work closely with students on affairs of the campus.

Bradbury and Hopekirk are two of the larger student residences.

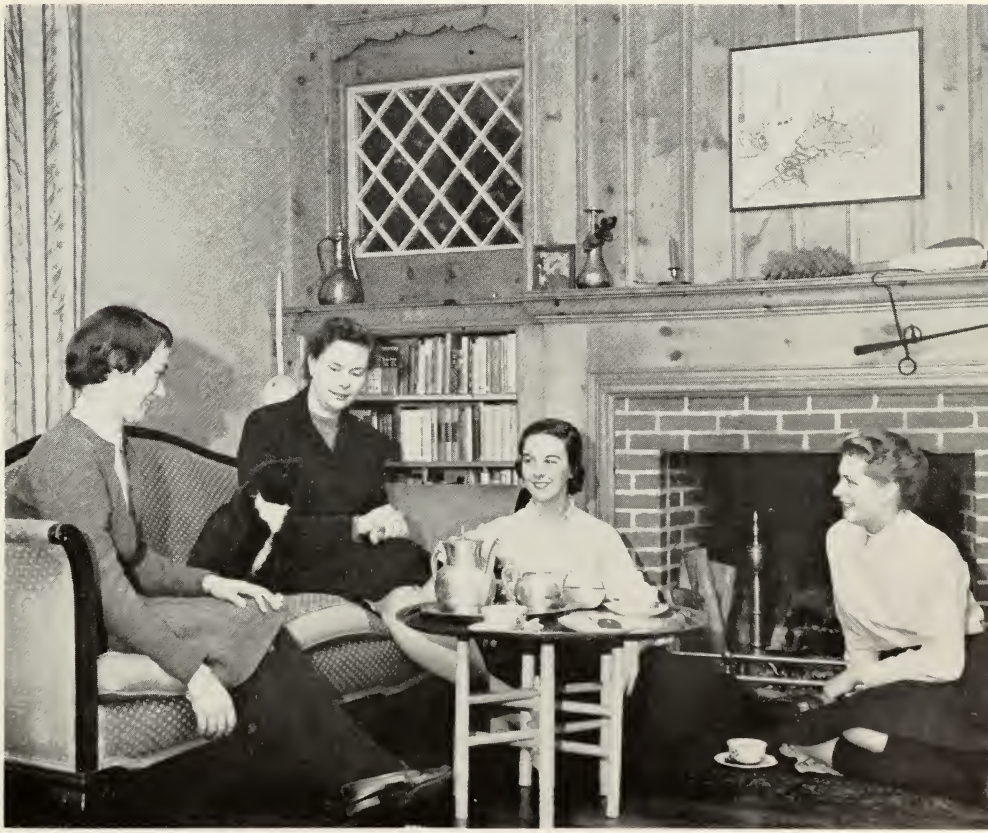
Almost all of its 250 students live in small residence halls scattered about the edge of its hundred and fifty acre campus.

Some students choose to live in either of the two houses where French is spoken at all times.

Students take turns in waiting on table at Pine Manor. Breakfasts and luncheons are served cafeteria style, while dinners are more formal.

Most academic classes take place in Westlea.

Informal counseling is as important in a dean's life as office appointments.



We at Pine Manor believe that a student well grounded in the humanities and sciences has the best possible preparation for further study and for the problems of life.

Small classes and individual attention promote good education.

The college places great emphasis on the value of mastering modern languages. Each year some students choose to continue their studies in programs at Paris or Madrid.

Courses in public speaking build confidence in addressing groups. Work on college publications supplements a strong program in English.

Activities in the creative arts give direction to imagination, enthusiasm, and individual talents.

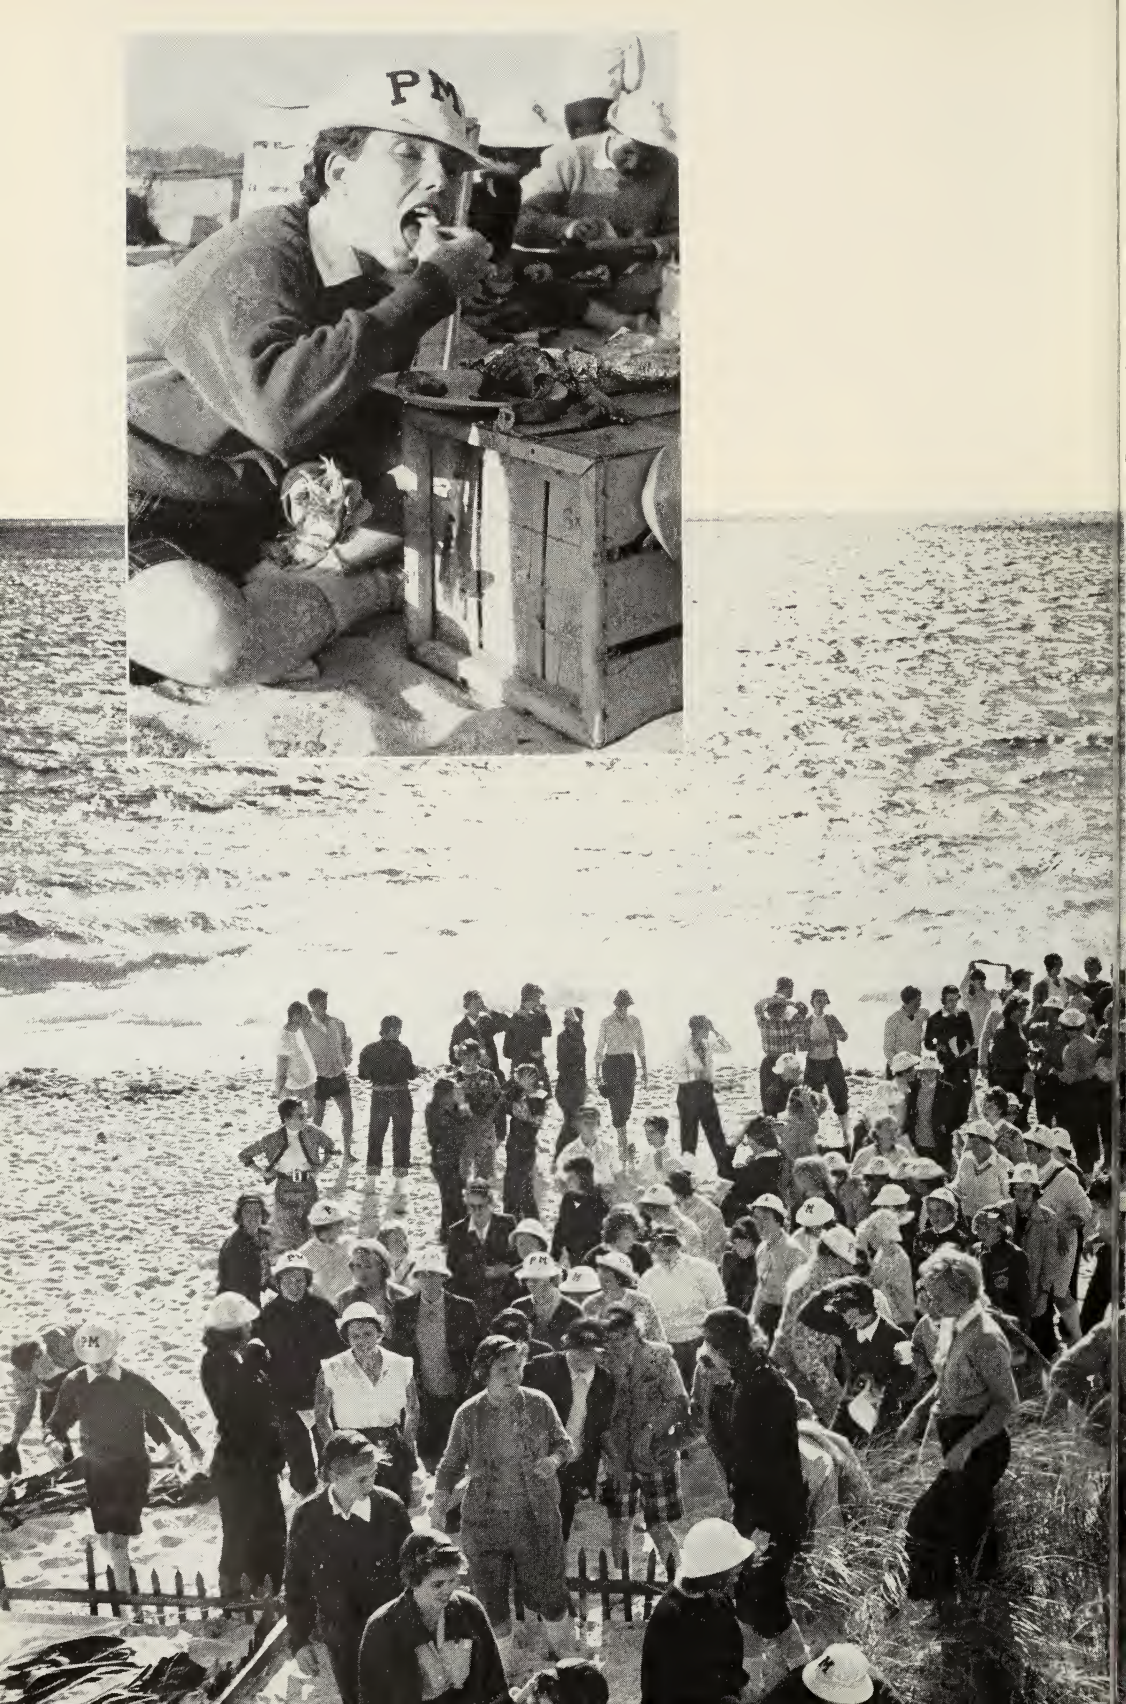
Study in the appreciation of art appeals both to the talented and to those without specific skill.

Students interested in music carry courses in theory and lessons in organ, piano, violin, or voice.

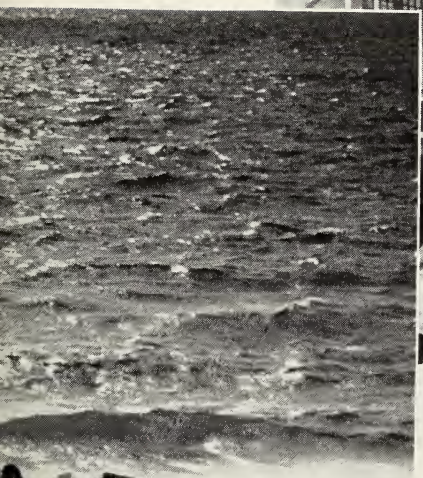
Dance and dramatic activities draw enthusiastic participants.

Students interested in singing participate in stage productions and special projects and are members of the Pine Manor Choir of fifty voices.

Tenacre Country Day School, one of our sister institutions, provides Pine Manor students with an unusual opportunity to work with young children to test their interest in teaching.



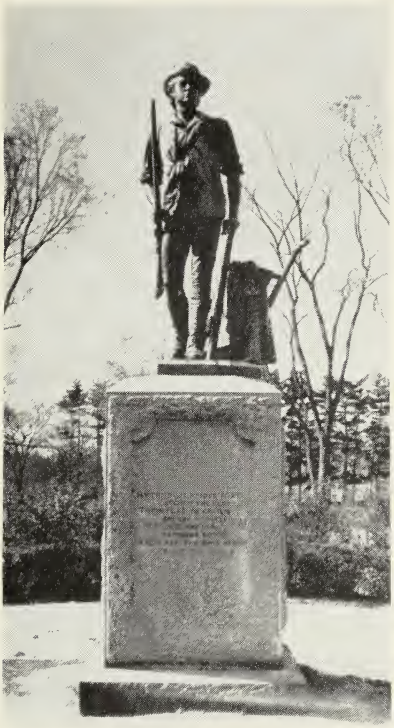
PM



Students leave the campus for weekend recreation at beaches and ski slopes during New England's changing seasons.

Churches of many denominations, including the nearby Village Church here pictured, welcome members of the Pine Manor community.

Longfellow House, Cambridge

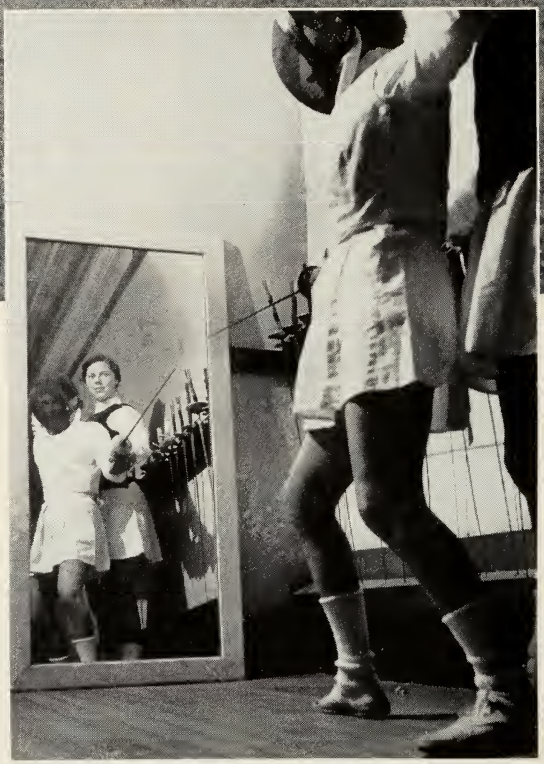


Concord Minute Man

S.S. Constitution U. S. Navy Photo

Students from all over the country have a chance to see reminders of the important role played by New England in our nation's early history.

Dorothy Quincy House, Quincy



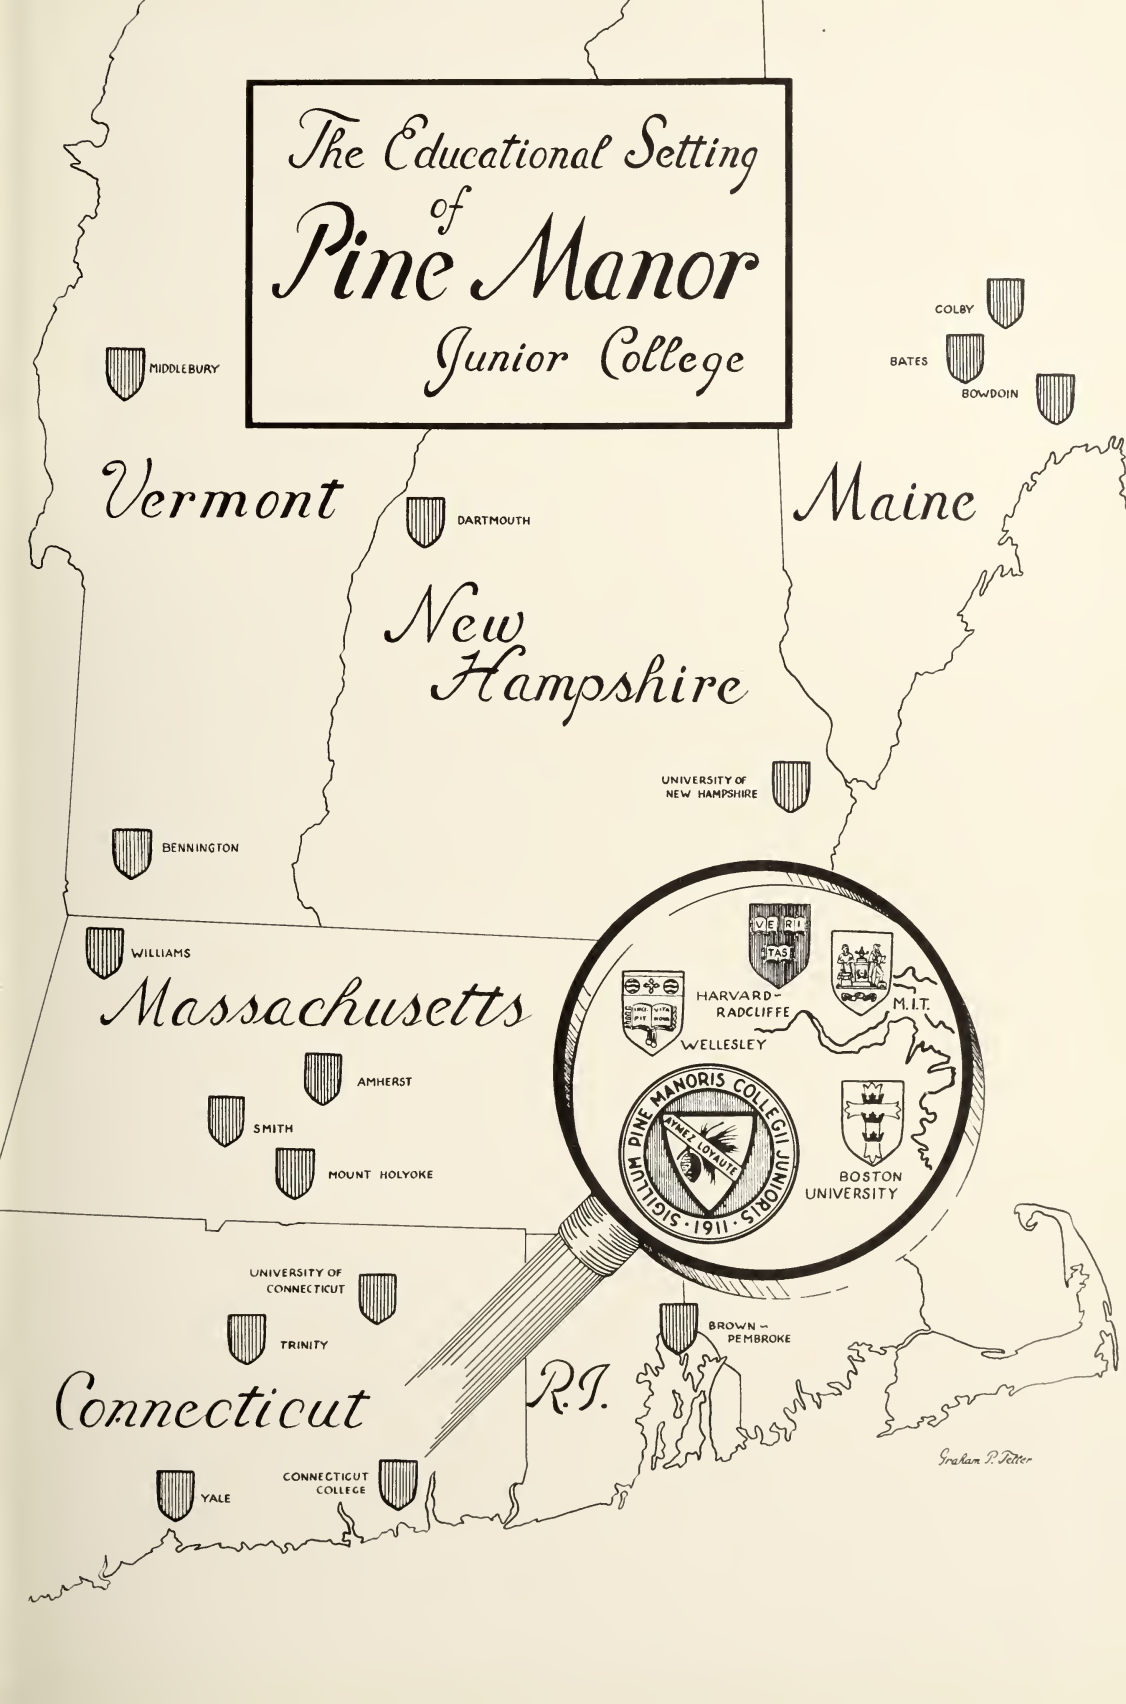
Sports contribute to good health and help to develop poise and coördination.

An indoor ring makes riding a year 'round sport at Pine Manor.

Individual and group instruction serve young women of varying proficiency.

Cherished traditions, clubs, and social activities are other important ingredients of the Pine Manor program.

Each June cap and gown symbolize the completion of two constructive Pine Manor years.



The Educational Setting of
Pine Manor
Junior College
MIDDLEBURY
COLBY
BATES
BOWDOIN
Vermont
DARTMOUTH
Maine
New Hampshire
UNIVERSITY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE
BENNINGTON
WILLIAMS
Massachusetts
AMHERST
SMITH
MOUNT HOLYOKE
VE RI TAS
HARVARD-RADCLIFFE
M.I.T.
WELLESLEY
SIGILLVM PINE MANORIS COLLEGII IVNIORVM · 1911 ·
SYMEZ LOYAVTE
BOSTON UNIVERSITY
UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT
TRINITY
BROWN-PEMBROKE
Connecticut
R.I.
YALE
CONNECTICUT COLLEGE
Graham P. Fetter

For catalogue and further information
Address
Director of Admissions
PINE MANOR JUNIOR COLLEGE
Wellesley 81, Massachusetts